Policy of Appeasement

Jan. 14.—(UP)—Prime Chamberlain left by London today, to report to cabinet and parliament on his conversations with Premier Mussolini.

worded communique declared that formal conversations between British and French presented no obstacle to reaching agreement on the basis of objective negotiation.

increasingly certain Chamberlain's policy of appeasement had suffered a perhaps fatal blow, or that there could be no effort to settle general European problems until the war ended.

Chamberlain left, Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, accompanied him here, had already gone to Geneva to attend a meeting of the League of Nations which was much more important, with Foreign Minister Mussolini of France every day of the British-Italian talks.

Chamberlain was obviously a failure, however, they were a triumph. On his way to Chamberlain had pledged himself to try to mediate French-German relations; in Rome the ambassador was advised at the end of negotiations; now Hal-fax was to Geneva to tell Bonaparte and to discuss with him the immediate future—one interview seemed certain, though the other was vague, that Chamberlain would stick close to his own good as well as European peace.

WORK RELIEF

INGTON, Jan. 14.—(UP)— The Senate appeared ready today to approve a bill for $725,000,000—$150,000,000 for President Roosevelt relief to continue work relief un-

Alva B. Adams, D., the Senate appropriations committee in charge of the deficiency measure, announced that the House last night had passed the bill, and that it would be considered Monday morning. He said that it would be Senate next week.

said. "I feel that $725,000,000 ought to be appropriated for the relief of the unemployed.
The burden of proof is on those who are recommending a smaller figure. We should approve the theory that things are administration suffered its first defeat when the House refused to restore the $875,000,000 appropriation requested by the Senate. Despite warnings that the House would force a 1-2 vote on off relief rolls. A total of 119 Democrats, most of them conservatives, joined 119 Republicans to scuttle the administration's bill.

adding the bill with amendments, one to separate public relief, the House sent it to the Senate.

Patrolmen Take Charge Of Campers

SUPERINTENDENT SAID SQUAT-TERS WOULD HAVE TO GO BUT HE DID NOT KNOW WHERE

SIKESTON, Mo., Jan. 14 (UP)— State highway patrolmen took charge today of an encampment of more than 200 homeless families camping in the ditches of two Federal highways near here.

B. Marvin Casteel, patrol superintendent, said the squatters would have to go, but he did not know where. He expected that federal and state welfare agencies would offer some haven for them.

He was accompanied here for an inspection by Adj. Gen. Lewis H.
Means of the National Guard, and State Health Commissioner Harry F.
Parker. It was snowing when they arrived last night. They found men, women and children huddled under makeshift shelters, a few in dilapidated automobiles, some in tents, but most of them on the ground with blankets or quilts stretched across sticks above their heads to ward off the snow.

Wood was too wet to burn and there were none of the campfires that had burned throughout the previous nights of the encampment.

The campers said they were share croppers who had been evicted by landlords in the vicinity, and that they were gathered beside highways 60 and 61 both for want of anywhere else to go and to protest against their treatment.

ICE CAUSES WRECK

Dr. E. R. Bartlett narrowly escaped serious injury Friday when the automobile he was driving was involved in a collision at Washington and Bloomington streets.

Dr. Bartlett's new Oldsmobile was extensively damaged. Following the accident he walked the rest of the way and met his scheduled classes.

Heavy slush on Washington street was blamed for the mishap as he skidded into an electric light pole when he applied his brakes.

GUY HARRIS HONORED AT

INFORMAL GATHERING HELD AT GOBIN MEMORIAL CHURCH;
MANY PRESENT

LEAVES FOR RIPLEY COUNTY

Eugene Akers Spoke Briefly And Introduced Others As Impromptu Speakers.

Putnam county agriculturists formally said their farewells to Guy T.
Harris, retiring county agent, at an informal gathering in the banquet room of the Gobin Memorial church, Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Harris left today for Ripley county, where the former at once begins his duties in the same capacity in that county.

There was a good attendance of farm folks, notwithstanding the bad condition of the roads. Those present participated in the pitch-in supper and made it a very pleasant, sociable affair.

As the latter part of the program, Eugene Akers, of the vocational department of the Greencastle High School and former 4-H leader for the county, presided. He spoke briefly concerning the purpose of the gathering, and introduced several others as impromptu speakers.

Lowell A. Dicks, of Marion township, who won sweepstakes at the Purdue agricultural conference with his single ear of yellow dent corn, was introduced. Mr. Akers in his presentation remarks, stressed the honor that came to the county through Mr.
Dicks achievement. Mr. Dicks said he had looked and waited 35 years for that one ear of corn.

Elvin Harlan, president of the Putnam county Farm Bureau; Will Padgett, head of the Putnam county Older Youth organization; Ivan Ruark, of the Farm Bureau Co-operative association; Mrs. Raymond Wright, of the county Farm Bureau department of education and sociability; Ora Day, county chairman of soil conservation work, all were introduced by Mr. Akers and they responded briefly, expressing their appreciation of Mr. Harris and his work, and of Mrs. Harris as his helper.

Mrs. Wright aroused considerable good humor by a story she told, in which Mr. Harris was the center figure. She said he was at the Wright place early in December, at which time he culled their flock of chickens. There was one, however, which he put off to one side, as not up to the standard as an egg-layer. However, said Mrs. Wright, she served that hen at the supper which she and her family gave this week for Mr. and Mrs. Harris, and he admired it very much as the center piece of the menu.

David Grimes, the incoming county farm agent, was also presented by the chairman and he spoke his farewells to Mr. Harris, and greeted the men and women with whom he and his wife will work.

As a tangible testimonial of appreciation of Mr. Harris' work, he presented a manuscript book of testimonials from some 75 of his friends in this county, autographed by them, which he received with deep feeling.

WPA WOMEN ON
SIT DOWN STRIKE

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 14.—(UP)—More than 65 destitute mothers, dismissed by the WPA, today continued their sit-down demonstration in the city hall in protest against the refusal of the board of aldermen to grant them immediate relief.

"We'll stay here until we get adequate relief," Mrs. Helen McKinney, mother of two children and leader of the demonstration, said.

The women, all mothers of children ranging in number from two to six, began their demonstration late yesterday in the balcony overlooking the alderman chambers. They were dismissed from WPA, along with 1,000 other mothers, because they have dependent children and thus are eligible for relief allotments under the state's aid to dependent children program.

They have been unable to obtain assistance, however, due to the lack of adequate personnel in the Social Security Administration office here.

Cubs Romp Over
Rushville, 40-32

DOWNEYMEN SUBDUED RUSH-VILLE IN ROUGH EN-COUNTER HERE

Capitalizing on their opponent's poor defense and an erratic passing attack, the Greencastle Tiger Cubs romped over the Rushville Lions here last night, 40-32.

Only in the opening minutes of the first quarter did Bob Hinshaw's aggregation prove troublesome for the local quintet. The Downeymen grabbed a 3-0 advantage at the outset and were never headed throughout the fray.

Hanlon and York started the scoring. York hitting the first marker from the coffin corner. The Cubs ran their advantage to 12-6 at the quarter. Hanlon, Coffman and Frazler scored as the locals broke through the visitors' defense easily, and the count was 15-11 at half-time.

Rushville's weak passing offense proved the locals' greatest boon during the third stanza. The ball changed hands frequently as both teams raced up and down the floor.
With less than a minute to play in the third period, Coach Downey removed the first five from the floor, and the Rushville squad settled down for some scoring. When the Lions advanced to within six points the first stringers were sent on the hardwood to finish the tilt.

The play was fast and rough.
Greencastle had some difficulty in connecting from the free-throw line.
Scoring was fairly even during the last minutes of play but the Cubs had little difficulty in setting the pace. Final: Greencastle 40, Rushville 32.

Bob Hinshaw, Lion mentor, was unable to be with his team due to ill-

RABBITS TRAPPED IN PARK ARE RELEASED

During the hunting season rabbits in the south part of the county are smart enough to take refuge in Shakamak park where no hunting is permitted. If all of these rabbits were permitted to remain in the park the young trees and shrubs would be badly damaged so each winter after the hunting season has closed, the State Conservation Department starts trapping rabbits in the park and freeing them over the county.
Last year more than 50 rabbits were trapped and are released in various parts of the county. State Game Warden Sam Morris says the trapping this year promises to result in a much larger crop of bunnies. The first day this week the traps yielded 24 rabbits which were freed in northern Lewis township. The rabbits caught in the box traps from day to day will be released by the game wardens over the county.

AIR LINER
CRASH KILLS
FOUR PERSONS

WRECKAGE WAS CONSUMED BY FLAMES BUT WITNESSES
DISAGREE

HAD JUST TAKEN OFF
Earth Where It Fell Was Gouged Out In Three Places; Wreckage Scattered

MILES CITY, Mont., Jan. 14 (UP)— A twin motored air liner crashed a few minutes after taking off last night, killing four persons. Three federal investigators were rushing here today to look into every phase of the accident.

The plane's wreckage was consumed by flames, but there was disagreement among witnesses as to whether it caught fire while still in the air or after it crashed.

Operated by Northwest Air Lines, it was bound from Chicago to Seattle. It had been held here almost two hours by adverse weather.

When it took off at 9:14 p. m.
(11:14 p. m. EST) visibility was fair and there was little wind. Four minutes after the take-off, it again reappeared to those on the field and the pilot seemed to be making a desperate attempt to land. It crashed within 1,200 feet of the field.

The dead were:
Captain C. B. Chamberlain, pilot.
First officer Ray Norby, co-pilot.
Mrs. Morgan Morris, Mandan, N. D.
R. F. Zazzer, Billings, Mont.
M. C. Hewitt, Spokane, Wash., a mechanic employed by the air line, was first reported among the dead.
He had been a "dead head" passenger, enroute to his home.

He grew tired of waiting while the plane was being held here and went to visit relatives at Terry, 40 miles from here, without saying anything to anyone. Therefore, when the plane crashed, he was believed to have been aboard it.

He heard later that he had been reported dead and said, "I don't know just how I feel."

The air safety board of the civil Aeronautics authority ordered three investigators to the scene. Philip Saiteman, representative of the authority in Los Angeles, left at once. Thomas Hardin, a member of the board, accompanied by Frank Calkwell, chief of the investigation section left Washington by plane for here at 8:30 a. m. (EST).

Persons on the local airfield said the Lockheed Zephyr Transport, with a capacity for 10 passengers and a crew of three, though it was carrying four persons, apparently developed motor trouble immediately after the take-off. The earth where it fell was gouged out in three places, indicating that Chamberlain had tried to pancake to a landing. The plane was broken up by the crash and the wreckage was scattered for more than 300 feet.

By the time field attendants reached the wreckage, the fire covered it.
It was some time before the fire had burned itself out sufficiently to permit removal of the bodies.

Senator O. Bruce Lane, from Putnam and Montgomery counties, is named a member of the committee from the Indiana Senate which will investigate the recent selection of school texts by the State Board of Education. Senator Lane introduced the resolution which asked for the investigation.

COUNTY TREASURER SELLS ALL REQUIRED TO BE PUT ON INTANGIBLE PROPERTY

An idea of the amount of property in this county which comes under the intangible classification is given by the report prepared in the office of the treasurer of Putnam county this week, of the sales of intangible tax stamps, last year.

The county treasurer sells all of the stamps required by state law to be placed upon intangible property, principally local notes and mortgages, also upon foreign securities held in the state, and a few other items.

The tax rate is one-fourth of one per cent of value represented by the face of the papers to be stamped.

The treasurer's office, in 1938, received from the state a total of $4,050 in stamps of different denominations, and disposed of $2,847.50 worth of them, returning to the state $1,202.50. Those returned were of the larger denominations, which were not required here. There were 127 of the $2.50 stamps, 109 of the $5.00, and 34 of the $10.00 stamps.
If some of these had been in smaller denominations, they would have been sold, it was said in the treasurer's office.

The largest number of the stamps sold were in smallest, or the 5-cent denomination, of which 4,000 were disposed of. Three thousand of the 10-cent denomination were sold; 2,000 of the 25-cent, 700 of the 50-cent, 700 of the $1.00, 41 of the 5.00, 173 of the $2.50, and 16 of the $10.00.

This year, the treasurer's office has been sent $4,800 in stamps by the state department.

Blinding Snowstorm In New York Metropolitan Area Caused Traffic Jam

By United Press

Snow and sleet covered northern states from the Rocky Mountains to the eastern seaboard today, disrupted communications and tied up land and air transportation in many sections.

Temperatures generally were moderate, however. In northern Illinois and some western states, spring-like temperatures caused snow to melt as it fell.

A blinding snowstorm in the New York metropolitan area last night caused one of the greatest traffic jams in the city's history. The jam started during the rush hour when trucks without chains became stalled on slippery approaches to the Brooklyn, Manhattan and Williamsburg bridges. Thousands of motorists were caught in the jam, many for as long as an hour in one spot.

All air traffic in the area was at a standstill. Plane schedules throughout the midwest were irregular.

C. A. Donnell, U. S. weather forecaster at Chicago, said the heaviest snows fell over Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. He said a light fall had been reported in parts of the Pacific northwest.

He predicted additional snow or rain in practically all eastern and northern portions of the north central states today and in most extreme eastern states Sunday. The snow will be accompanied by lower temperatures.

Investigations
Forced By G.O.P.

REPUBLICANS PROVE POWER-FUL AS LEGISLATORS CON-CLUDE FIRST FULL WEEK

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 14.— (UP)—The Legislature concluded its first full week of the 1939 session today on a keynote of governmental investigation.

For the first time since the Democratic resurgence of the early 1930s the G. O. P. legislative bloc proved itself powerful enough to force Democratic legislators to sanction four separate investigations.

Indications were that these four were but the forerunners of a number of similar proposals to be presented by Republican senators and representatives. The unwilling Democrats were expected to "go along" on all of the resolutions.

Now scheduled for legislative scrutiny under terms of resolutions adopted this week are operations of the workmen's compensation rating bureau, the purchase of school textbooks, the $11,000,000 institutional building program enacted by last summer's special session, and the gross income tax division.

Further investigations are expected to be launched into the state highway commission, the Public Welfare Department, the Democratic "Two Per Cent" club, alleged excessive operating expenses of several state departments, awarding of state printing contracts, administration of the Liquor Control Act, and the State

FORCE INVESTIGATIONS

Board of Accounts.
It was possible that more opposition would develop from Democrats in the future than was forthcoming on the resolutions approved during the past week. All of the investigations except that of the Income Tax Division were approved almost unanimously.

Although many Democrats were known privately to look upon the inquiries with disfavor, the party thus far has taken the stand that now is the time to bring into the open for public scrutiny the charges of misconduct in office which were voiced consistently by G. O. P. candidates in the last campaign.

Democratic leaders are hoping that some of the inquiries, the gross income tax in the inquiry, would result in a boomerang for the Republicans.

The gross income tax resolution directed Director Clarence A. Jackson of the Income Tax Division to prepare a list of all persons and firms delinquent in their tax payments. Democrats say that such a report would arouse the antagonism of many business leaders inasmuch as such information is usually considered to be of an extremely confidential nature.

It was pointed out also that if other investigations fail to uphold Republican charges of misconduct the Democratic position would have been strengthened considerably.

Neither house succeeded in beginning actual work on any legislation although a number of bills were considered by committees and reported to the respective chambers.

A total of 92 bills came into the House during the opening week while 60 were introduced in the Senate.

It appeared reasonably certain that the Legislature eventually would agree on revisions to these measures:

The Liquor Control Act, to abolish the beer port-of-entry system.
The Gross Income Tax law.
The weight tax on trucks, to abolish the present system.

Date of obtaining automobile license plates, to move it farther back in the year.
Old Age Assistance, to increase the payments to oldsters.
Marriage laws, to require premarital blood tests.

COMPETENT HEATING ENGINEER SHOULD LAY OUT DUCT SYSTEM

most vital part of any air-conditioning system is the series of ducts through which the conditioned air is distributed to the various rooms of the house. Because of the fact that the design of the duct system requires special knowledge the Federal Housing Administration recommends that a competent heating engineer be permitted to lay out a duct system.

Respective home owners may also take advantage of a special duct-design service made available by some manufacturers of air-conditioning equipment. An optional solution to the problem lies in pre-fabricated systems now being manufactured where the value of expert design is applied to standardized factory sections which may easily be installed within the house.

Engineers have established the fact that for a complete air-conditioning system the supply ducts should enter the room on an inside wall well above the floor, and the return ducts should be provided at room level which will create the best circulation and the most even distribution of the heated or cooled air. Safety and economy are stressed by FHA officials as the two most important considerations affecting the choice and installation of air conditioning equipment.

TWO-TONE TAPE GIVES NEW USE TO VENETIAN BLINDS

The treatment of windows to unite privacy with beauty and at the same time provide scientific light control can be achieved through the use of venetian blinds.

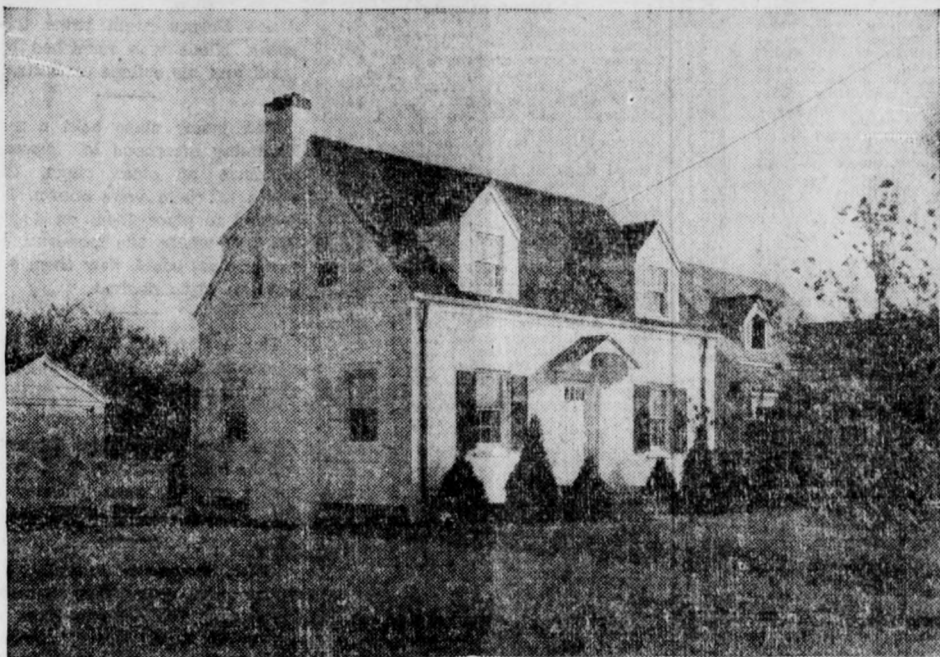

Available in a variety of colors, the blinds may assume a major role in the decorative plan of a home. However, the exterior of a house calls for definite color harmony to avoid a patchwork effect when interior color schemes demand blinds of several colors. This is now accomplished through the use of two-tone tape which permits the use of different tape tones for interior color harmony, while the opposite side is in one neutral tone to permit outside uniformity.

Funds for the installation of such blinds may be obtained from qualified lending institutions under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

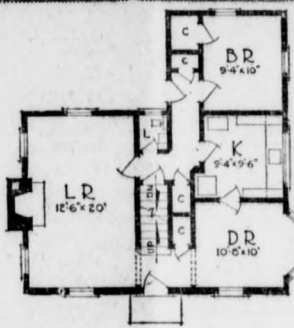

CLOSET SOLVES PROBLEM OF TOY STORAGE IN HOME

Finding sufficient space in which to store the children's toys is a problem that plagues home owners

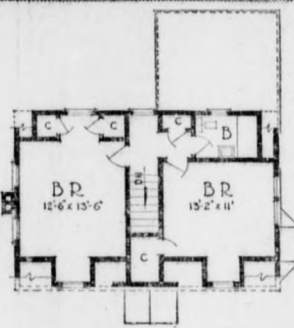

Moderately Priced—Modernly Built

An interesting effect is achieved in this two-story house through the use of brick and asbestos shingles. The interior is equally as attractive, living room that extends from the front to the rear of the house on three sides. Built with a $5,000 mortgage which was insured by the Federal Housing Administration, the property was appraised at $6,500 by FHA. Monthly payments include all charges under the Insured Mortgage System.

not only during the few weeks following Christmas but it is likely to develop into a source of year-round annoyance.

In the city, where storage space is at a premium and the problem is more acute, a toy closet is practically the only solution. There are many possible designs for such a closet, but the ideal one should contain a separate cupboard for larger and more cumbersome toys. The cupboard should be equipped with movable partitions to allow for proper spacing of the toys, and the door should be made to open downward to form a runway on which toys with wheels may be easily moved in and out.

Home owners will find these toy closets the most effective and inexpensive method of keeping toys out of sight when not in use.

DISHWASHING DEVICES OFFERED IN NEW STYLES

The kitchen, long the most functional room of the house, continues to become more and more the product of new ideas and labor-saving devices. Even the handling of soiled dishes has passed through processes of refinement until dish-washing sinks now available relieve the housewife of this unpleasant task.

New developments in dish-washing sinks include retractable sprays which fit in the drainage compartment. The dishes, secured in a rubber sheathed rack, are rinsed by the force of the shower. The sinks can be obtained in standard materials with acid-resisting enamel surface.

In modernizing kitchens, the sink should be high on the list of articles deserving consideration.

ALL CHARGES INCLUDED IN REGULAR FHA PAYMENTS

Persons buying their homes under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration know to the penny what they are expected to pay each month on the liquidation of their mortgage indebtedness.

The monthly payments are all-inclusive: Interest and principal, taxes, and special assessments (if any), hazard insurance (fire, wind, etc.), and mortgage-insurance premium.

Thus, Federal Housing Administration officials point out, the monthly payments, often no more than rent for similar quarters, take care of all charges on the mortgage indebtedness.

COMBINATION OF LIGHTING TYPES IS IDEAL PLAN

A combination of the varied types of lighting—indirect, wall and ceiling fixtures, and lamps—presents the ideal arrangement for proper lighting of a home.

All these methods of lighting have their uses, but consideration of the lighting problem involved and application of the best method usually answer the question.

In the purely utilitarian rooms, such as the kitchen, laundry, utility room, etc., ceiling lights for general illumination will suffice. In special places, such as over the kitchen sink, possibly some indirect or semi-indirect lighting may become standard and, in fact, is finding greater favor now.

In the living room, library, and other rooms for general social use, a combination of lamps and indirect lighting probably serves best. Some general illumination is needed, and the softness of indirect light serves this purpose best. For reading and for ordinary home use, lamps are preferable.

FIRE LOSS IN U. S. GREAT FROM CHIMNEYS, FLUES

The Actuarial Bureau of the National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates that the average annual fire loss due to defective chimneys and flues in the United States is above $25,000,000, and many lives are lost in some 32,000 fires.

According to authorities, there are eight common factors which contribute to faulty chimneys: (1) Insufficient height; (2) omission of flue lining; (3) offsets and bends in the chimney; (4) improper installation of smoke pipe; (5) other openings into the chimney; (6) cover for lean-out door not tight; (7) improper support for chimney; and (8) improper laying of brick.

Questions - Answers

Q. How far should a concrete footing under a chimney go down for a one-story house?

A. All footings should be designed of a size to support adequately the load to be carried. They should extend below the frost line prevailing in the neighborhood.

Q. Is there any way I can use the fireplace in one room to heat another?

A. Yes. There are several space heaters on the market which use either warm-air ducts or circulating hot water to carry the fireplace heat to other rooms.

Q. Does the Government lend money under the FHA Insured Mortgage Plan?

A. No. FHA-insured loans are made by private financial institutions approved by the Federal Housing Administration.

DAMAGE FROM SNOW LESSENED BY GUARDS

Snow guards, small irons that are secured to the roof, often serve the double duty of being ornamental as well as preventing property damage from sliding snow.

Most snow guards are easily applied and can be used on either metal or slate roofs. On metal roofs the irons are riveted to the roofing or nailed through to the sheathing. Those used on slate roofs are riveted on iron plates which go under the slate.

"Insurance is designed to take the uncertainty out of owning property. If you're correctly insured, you know where you'll stand if disaster takes a whack at your possessions."

Never take any chances on guessing at insurance protection. It's too vitally important. I want to know what's what—and so I've turned all my insurance problems over to the Hillis & Larkin Insurance Agency. There's no chance for a slip-up on my protection."

Home Comfort Aids Outlined

NUMBER OF BASIC FACTORS ARE IMPORTANT TO VALUE AND LIVABILITY

There are a number of basic factors of greater importance to the comfort, value, and livability of a home than the mechanical equipment which may be included in its plan.

Prior consideration should be given such factors as the general location of neighborhood, the relation of the house to its site, the provision for natural light and ventilation, the comfort and convenience of the plan, the soundness of the construction and the attractiveness of the design.

If these basic factors are not present in a home, no amount of equipment can make a satisfactory house. That equipment may be changed and improved from time to time to suit the needs of the occupant.

In selecting the mechanical equipment which is to be included in the home, the same sort of judgment should be used as would be applied in equipping a factory, balancing the initial cost of the equipment against its cost of operation. Moreover, where economy is the paramount consideration, it is advisable to forego first those items which furnish merely ease of service or control or refinement in appearance. Items such as good piping, good valves, good plumbing fixtures, good electrical wiring, and an adequate heating plant should be considered in a class with the structure itself.

REDESIGNED STORES REGAIN DESIRABILITY

The application of a plan for redesigning and a reasonable expenditure of money may restore demand for commercial buildings which now have antiquated fronts and badly arranged window-display space and are in general need of a little appeal.

Through the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration, funds for such purposes may be obtained.
